Life stage koi food

日本の伝統と西洋の技術の融合
A careful blend of Japanese tradition and western technology

The Koi hobby is continuously evolving due to advancements in knowledge regarding nutrition, water quality, and pond design. Over the past few decades, various specialized foods such as growth food, colour-enhancing food, health food, winter food, and more, have been developed. Each tailored to specific needs.

It has been discovered that Koi requires a balanced diet, as over-feeding any particular type of food can be detrimental. Similar to other pets, it is now standard practice to provide specialized nutrition to Koi at different life stages; juvenile, junior, adult, and jumbo.

Kiyomizu has formulated distinct dietary solutions to meet the precise nutritional requirements of Koi throughout each stage of their lives.

Juvenile

Juvenile Koi need to grow relatively fast and subsequently develop all their body tissue. For this they need sufficient highly digestible protein with the optimal amino acid profile. Besides this they need high quality fats and carbohydrates. But they also need sufficient vitamins and minerals to go through this phase in life.

Because of the nutrition within Kiyomizu Juvenile, Koi will have a head start developing themselves for maximum performance, size and optimized shape at later life stages. Growth lost at an early stage in life cannot be compensated during later stages in the life of the Koi.

Junior

Junior Koi need good nutrition in this phase of their life if they are to grow into magnificent Jumbo Koi. They need easy to digest proteins in order to grow. They also need vitamins and minerals to develop a healthy bone and body structure. Kiyomizu Junior provides a balanced set of ingredients supporting health, immunity and growth. Exactly what a young Koi needs.

Adult Koi grow more slowly but develop their body shape and colour more than in previous stages. Therefore, it is essential to change their feed, to make sure they are given the nutrition they need in this stage of life. Kiyomizu Adult contains prebiotics and other supporting ingredients to strengthen the health and vitality of Koi.

Jumbo

Jumbo Koi need to improve and maintain their body shape and colour. In contrast to popular belief, giving them large amounts of protein for more growth has the opposite effect. Overfeeding mature Koi with unnecessary high levels of low digestible protein and fat will result in unhealthy, overweight Koi with a shorter life span. Jumbo Koi need smaller amounts of very easily digestible high-quality proteins. Especially when combined with the support for the health and colour that Kiyomizu Jumbo offers.

Kiyomizu Jumbo is designed to contribute to the maximum genetically determined life span of the Jumbo Koi.

All four stages

Summary

Juvenile

Support the optimal growth and development of juvenile Koi by offering essential nutrients like high digestible protein, quality fats, carbohydrates vitamins, and minerals. Investing in proper nutrition during this crucial phase ensures lifelong vitality and maximizes the Kol's size and performance potential in later stages of life.

Junior

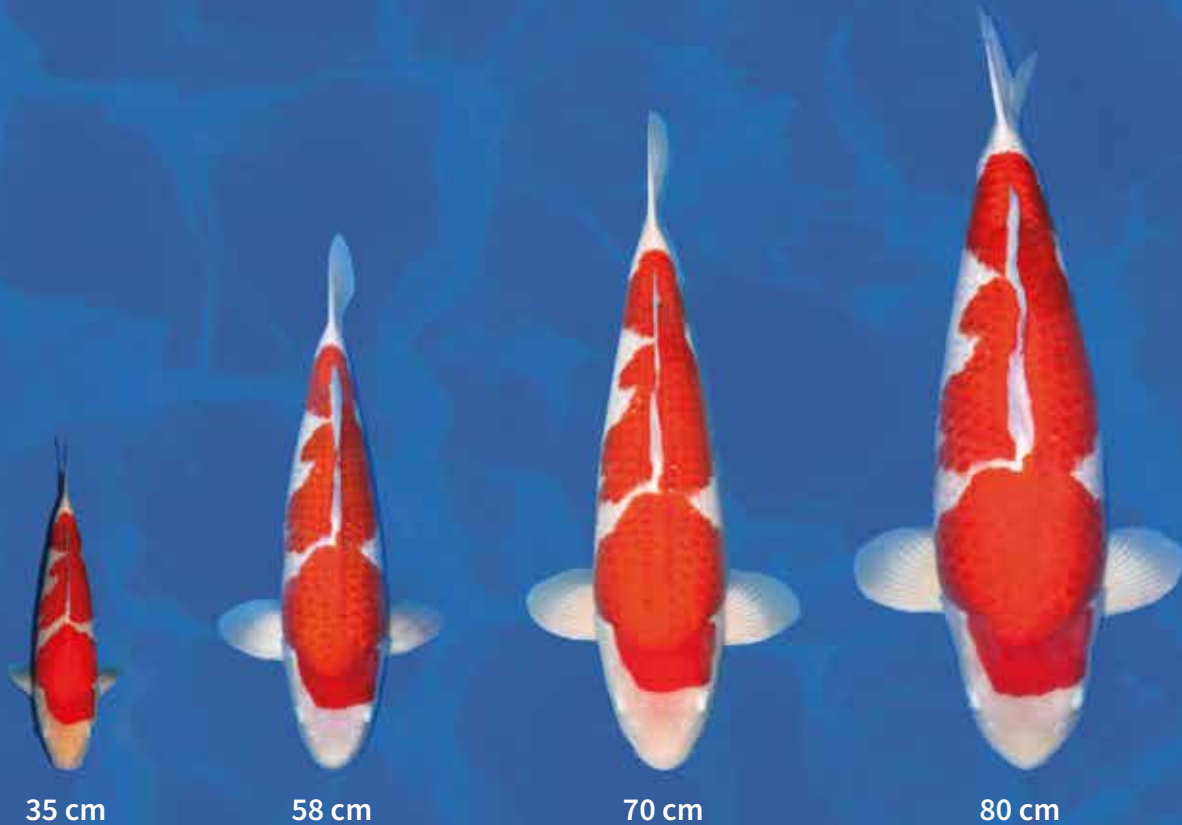

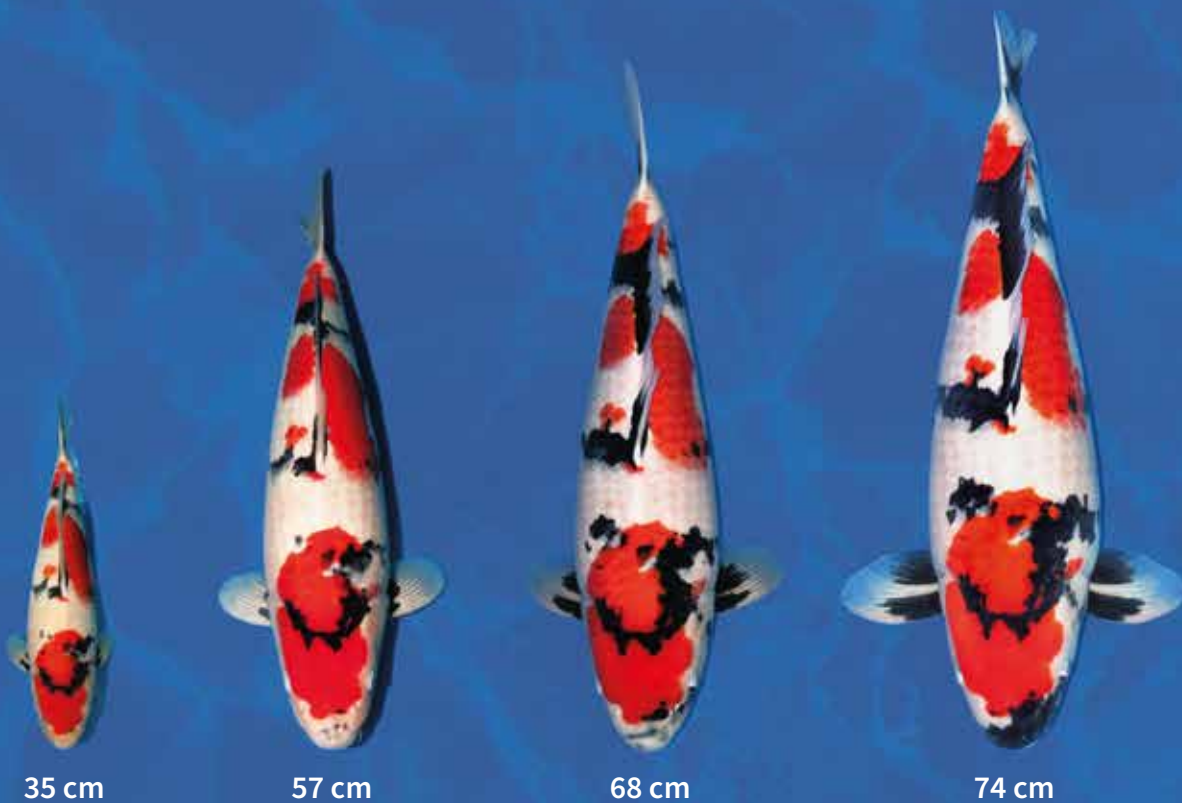

Give Junior Koi a strong start towards becoming magnificent Jumbo Koi with Kiyomizu Junior. It contains easily digestible proteins, essential vitamins, minerals and balanced health supporting ingredients crucial for optimal growth and immunity. This specialized formula ensures young Koi develop a solid body and bone structure, setting the foundation for their future size and health.

Adult

Kiyomizu Adult feed is crucial for adult Koi as they develop their body shape and colour, ensuring they receive the necessary nutrients tailored to this life stage. Because of the added prebiotics, Kiyomizu Adult promotes Koi health and vitality by supporting their overall well-being as they mature.

Jumbo

For Jumbo Koi to maintain and enhance their body shape, color, and overall health, feeding them with Kiyomizu Jumbo is essential. Contrary to popular belief, providing large amounts of protein doesn't accelerate their growth; instead, offering smaller quantities of highly digestible high quality proteins are beneficial. Kiyomizu Jumbo is formulated to support optimal health and color to maximize their long-term well-being.
